Willis Winstead.
Willis Winstead was born near Martin, Tennessee, January 8th, 1843, and died at Great Bend, Kansas, November 5th, 1910, being 67 years, 9 months, and 27 days of age at the time of his death.
Mr. Winstead came to Kansas about thirty-eight years ago, and has made this his home ever since, with the exception of a few years that he lived in Tennessee, where he went in the hopes of improving his health. He was married April 4th, 1878, to Miss Georgia Stone, of this city. He was one of the first settlers of the county, and in the early days was elected a number of times to various of the city offices. He was for four years sheriff of Barton county, and was said to be one of the very best men ever holding that office. As an officer he was fearless, willing at any time to risk his life in the performance of his duties. He was a loyal friend, and with his enemies he was a square fighter.
After retiring from office he was engaged in various business enterprises for a number of years until finally stricken with rheumatism which crippled him so as to be entirely helpless for a number of years past. Although helpless he however never complained but was ever cheerful, always looking on the bright side, and always having a pleasant word and joke for his numerous friends when they called to see him. He was a member of the Congregational church of this city, and for many years a member of the A. F. & A. M. lodge of this city, under whose auspices the funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon from the late home.

He leaves besides his widow, two sons, Thomas and George, also a niece, Miss Jessie Winstead, who has made her home with the family since infancy.
We join the many friends of the family in extending our sincere sympathy in their sad hour of trial.
Concrete.
Concrete for the farm is attracting much attention nowadays. Every well-equipped place should use it. Wherever it has taken the place of lumber it has proved to be an economy. Water tanks, barn floors, chicken houses, and corn-cribs are now made of concrete. The cost of construction is a little more at first than if lumber were used, but once in it is practically permanent, whereas lumber will wear and decay.
One of the best features of concrete is that it may be used by any one with a little care and attention, whereas a properly constructed house or barn can only be put up by a carpenter. It has been proven by tests in the engineering department of the State Agricultural College that concrete can be successfully made of sifted ashes and cinders instead of with sand and broken stone. A story describing the correct proportions will shortly be published.
